

Living and Working in Paradise: BELIZE and Yeeha! Central America

by Jim Stapleton

ARRIBA Offshore Books

Suite 195, 132-250 Shawville Blvd SE,
Calgary, Alberta, Canada T2Y 2Z7.
Canada 001 (403) 256-0659.

ISBN 0-9734388-0-0 First edition, December 2003.

LIVING AND WORKING IN PARADISE™ is a registered trademark of Arriba Land & Minerals Corp. and is protected under the Trade-marks Act (1996) of the Government of Canada. The trademark in any form, in any language, as letters in any format or font and the meaning it represents cannot be reproduced, displayed or copied in any form which infringes on the owner's trademark rights.

http://landandminerals.com/arriba_living.html

How can we swim among the angelfish, after finishing off program budgets and approving the expense accounts?

“It’s because of the Internet.” All the answers are here in this computer and the methods have been tried, and they work. Mainly, it’s just a matter of having a laptop, some descent software, and an Internet connection. Affairs can be arranged so you only have to work part-time at things that you like. Then, you can spend the rest of your life, well ... “living!”

Why is it just as cheap to work offshore as at Home Office?

Well, what’s the difference between what you’re doing now and offshore? It’s the two hours you spend in the car commuting and parking. It’s the cost of clothes and lunches; repairs, fuel, insurance; and don’t forget about those annoying mortgage payments and our overheated houses. Offshore, means you need two swim suits and three T-shirts. Sunglasses and a hat are mandatory. Socks and shoes are optional. Dinner costs three bucks. The beer is cheap. And, Home Office pays the telephone and utility bills. Any more questions?

OFFSHORE-EXPRESS

Escape Artist
Sultry Tropics
Baby Boomer
Offshore
Exploration en Espanole

HOME IN AMERICA

Culture Shock
They’re in Bubble
Sustainable?
Connections
An Oil and Gas Play

INTREPID ENTREPRENEURS

Some Like it Hot, Hot, Hot
Expatriates
Sand Flies
Professionals
The Drill Program

CENTRAL AMERICA

Intrigue and More
All the Kings Horses
What is “Poor?”
Hurricanes
Man on a Mission

PARADISE

Bob Marley
Geography
Field Trips
Geological Rationale
Logistics

ESSENTIALLY BUSINESS

Border Entry
Hidden Opportunities
Business as Usual
Risk—Reward—Adversity
Survival Strategies
Stranded in Paradise

You can read this book in two sittings; the time it takes to get to your hub plus the flight to your sunshine destination.

BELIZE http://landandminerals.com/arriba_belize.html

PANAMA http://landandminerals.com/arriba_panama.html

HOME http://landandminerals.com/oil_gas_geology_planning_exploration_fieldwork_geochemistry_logistics